Not to Be Trusted.

The ignorance of some American born citizens of foreign descent in regard to the precise meaning of some English words is sometimes rather astonishing. An instance of this was met with the other day by a reporter who had called at the house of a German on Second avenue in the ordinary course of his business. The man, who it was afterward learned was 40 years old, had been born in this city, and for at least ten years had been in business, was not at first inclined to be communicative. Finally he stopped a little closer to the reporter—they were standing in the hall—and said, "Are you a confidence man?" The reporter was indignant, naturally, and in forcible language he declared he was no "confidence man." "Ach, well," said the man as he opened the door, "I think perhaps if I told you doss things my names you would not write, but if you no confidence man I tell you nodings."—New York Times.

Imagination in Life.

It seems probable that a little imagination is very much better as a possession than a great deal. A little is, to the daily incidents and events of life, what salt is to meat. The relish it bestows upon them is just as good as a pleasure. If you are in a sorry plight you can see help coming by its aid, though, on the other hand, you are not tormented by grievous relapses of impatience and despair upon the delay of the arrival of such help, as you would surely be if you were as imaginative as a poet. And in like manner, when you are in the thick of prosperity, under its gentle, judicious suggestion, you are able to look ahead, foresee the inevitable squalls which shall follow such a spell of fine weather, and be prepared for them. In fact, a certain amount of imagination is like ballast to a ship, whereas too much acts like a storm upon the same ship, catching it with all sail set. All the Year Round.

Danger in Milk.

But probably more danger lurks in milk than in water. Milking is done very largely by men whose persons are uncleanly, and who have no proper ideas of purity and neatness. But if we can once get it to the house without its being contaminated there is no surety that it will remain safe for human use. It is quick to absorb impurities from the air, and milk forms an admirable breeding place for numerous enemies to health.

It is certain that many an epidemic of scarlet fever and probably many a death from typhoid fever might have been prevented if the contaminations of milk and their easy transportation from house to house had been clearly understood.

Several cases of outbreaks of typhoid fever have within a few years been traced to the water placed in milk by dishonest dealers, and taken from polluted wells or streams. The washing of cans even in infected water is sufficient to transmit the germs of disease. Scarlet fever is now, perhaps, the most dread-

A LAW AT LAST.

The bill introduced by Senator La Grange to more fully secure the secrecy of the ballot, has been signed by the Governor and is now the law of the State. A similar bill, introduced by Mr. La Grange two years ago, passed the Senate before the bosses were aware of its import, but it was reconsidered and defeated. At this session it was the first bill introduced in the Senate. The Committee on Elections, to which it was referred, reported it favorably and it passed the Senate some weeks ago. It slumbered in committee in the Assembly for some time, but that body finally, while stricken with remorse, passed it with but one amendment. This the Senate concurred in and the bill was sent to the Governor and approved by him.

The Act provides, among other things, that a sufficient number of places, booths, or compartments, in which voters may conveniently mark their ballots, shall be provided at each polling place, and no person other than voters engaged in receiving, preparing or depositing their ballots, shall be permitted inside the guard rail of the booths or compartments during the time they are open, except by authority of the Board of Election, and in that case only for the purpose of keeping order or enforcing the law. Any person desiring to vote shall give his name and address to one of the Clerks of Election, and if the other Clerk finds the name upon the registry list, one ballot shall be given the voter, who shall immediately retire to one of the booths and prepare his ballot by making a cross or X after the name of the person for whom he intends to vote for each office, such marking to be made with a black lead pencil. The voter shall then fold his ballot and deliver it to the Inspector of Election.

Provision is made for marking the ballot of a voter, who declares, under oath, that by reason of physical disability he is unable to do so; also for furnishing the ballots and printing the names of candidates on the same, and voters are prohibited from showing their ballots, or placing any mark upon them by which they can afterwards be identified, under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

GETTING DISGUSTED.

While there are hundreds of good citizens in Nevada, as elsewhere, who are disgusted with the hypocrisy and boss rule which have supplanted principle in the Republican party, the Belmont Courier is the first newspaper in the State to bid it farewell. The Courier, until very recently, sanctioned every act consummated in the name of Republicanism in Congress and the Legislature. Now it says the Fifty-first Congress has adjourned sine die, and it is glad of it. That Congress, Republican in both branches, was led by Czar Reed and other gold bugs, and did everything possible to kill the silver industry.

It is a hopeful sign to see as ultra a partisan journal as the Courier has been emerge from the cloud of prejudice which enveloped it, and see political affairs with the light of reason and common sense. A Republican Congress failed to redeem its pledges, and was repudiated by its party east of the Rocky Mountains last November. Now there is hope that Nevada, which has more cause to complain of the refusal of Congress to redeem the pledge made in the Chicago platform to place silver and gold on an equality than any of the agricultural States, will repudiate the party which deceived it by failing to restore silver to the place which it had ever occupied in the United States until the passage of the infamous demonetization Act of February 12th, 1873.

FAILURES AS FIGHTING SHIPS.

There are whispers in Washington that the famous steamship, Philadelphia, will be a failure as a fighting ship. Like the Boston and Atlanta the Philadelphia is not strong enough for her battery. She carries twelve six-inch high power rifles, four of which, owing to faulty design are said to be practically useless in action. They cannot be fired without danger of doing more damage to the ship and crew than to the enemy.

Ingalls was doubtless correct in saying that the millions of dollars spent annually on ships and engines of war is uselessly squandered, but he should have said so when he was Senator and not waited until the Kansas farmers repudiated him for upholding the party that is responsible for such extravagance. The United States is not in danger of invasion by land or sea, and the business of taxing everything used by the masses for the purpose of building and maintaining squadrons of evolution for display in European ports, ought to be discontinued.

The report comes from Washington that the President and Secretary Foster have decided to make several important changes in the Treasury Department, the most important of which is the removal of General Rosecrans, the present Register of the Treasury. "Old Ross," as he was called in war times, is a Democrat, and Foster thinks a Republican should have the place.

The Baltimore American says that Re. d. who is 6 feet 3 inches in his stockings and weighs 275 pounds, wept like a child in his private room at the Capital when taking leave of his fellow members, some of whom felt that they had been mistreated by him in the House.

HENNESSEY AVENGED.

The Assassins of Chief Hennessy Slain by Indignant Citizens.

Special to the Journal.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—New Orleans struck Mafias a death blow to-day. It wreaked a horrible vengeance upon the Sicilian assassins, who relentlessly slew David C. Hennessy. The work of blood was accomplished without unnecessary disorder. It was not an unruly midnight mob, it was simply a sullen determined body of citizens who took into their own hands what justice had ignominiously failed to do. The Chief of Police was slain on October 15th and that very night evidence began to accumulate showing his death had been deliberately planned by a secret tribunal and carried out boldly and successfully by tools of conspirators. The trial lasted twenty-five days, and though the evidence seemed conclusive the jury, currently charged with having been tampered with, failed to convict.

Last night a body of lawyers, doctors, merchants and political leaders, all persons of influence and social standing, quietly met and decided that some action must be taken and the peoples' justice swift and sure visited upon those whom the jury had neglected to punish. This morning a call for a mass meeting at Clay Square on Canal street appeared in the papers. Down in a large room on Bienville and Royal there was an arsenal provided by a body of citizens. The call was answered by the populace and at 10 o'clock there was a crowd of several thousand anxious people congregated around the meeting place of the town.

There were three addresses, short, pithy and business-like, and the assembly, not unwillingly, was soon keyed up to the highest pitch demonstrative in its deliberation of the assassins. W. S. Parker, the leader, is a prominent lawyer here, Walter D. Denegan, another of the speakers is one of the leaders of the New Orleans bar, John C. Wickliff, also a prominent attorney, and James D. Houston, one of the foremost men of the State. By this time the crowd had swelled to three thousand or more, and before any one could realize what had happened a great throng was tramping down the streets to the neighborhood of the prison, stopping only once, and that was at the arsenal where double barreled shotguns, Winchesters, rifles and pistols were handed out to responsible and respectable citizens in the party. The starting of the crowd had an electric effect on the city. Soon streets were alive with people running from all directions and joining the main body, which moved down to the jail near the Congo Square. Sheriff Villier, when he heard a movement was on foot to take the prisoners, armed his deputies and then started on the hunt for Major Shakespeare. The Italian Consul, and Attorney General Rogers joined in the pursuit, but the police force was too small to offer much resistance to the army of avengers. The great multitude surged around the door and crowded the little band of blue coats away. Captain Lew Davis was on guard at the main entrance with a scant force. They were swept away like chaff before the wind and in an instant the little ante-room leading into the prison was jammed with eager, excited men. Meanwhile the prisoners were stricken with terror, for they could hear distinctly the shouts of the people without, madly demanding their blood.

Ten Deaths from La Grippe.

Special to the Journal.

CLINTON, A. T., March 14.—La Grippe has become an epidemic here and it is reported in the last two weeks ten deaths have occurred from the disease. Many persons are afflicted with it now.

LANDS HELD UNDER CONTRACT.

Thousands of Acres Will be Abandoned.

According to reports from authentic sources thousands of acres of State lands, contracted for a few years ago when the land craze was at its height, will be abandoned. Twenty-five cents an acre, one-fifth of the full price, was paid into the State Treasury for those lands and interest has been paid on the balance at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. The lands were also taxed for State and county purposes. The moneys received for the lands were invested at less than 4 per cent. per annum, while the purchases of the lands had to pay 6 per cent. Judge Bigelow, the Nevada Land and Cattle Company, Russell & Bradley and M. E. Ward are among those who say they will abandon contract lands. M. E. Ward has already thrown up a contract for 2,900 acres. The lands which will be abandoned are, of course, the least valuable that have been contracted for, and it will be many years before they can be disposed of again. Probably if the rate of interest on deferred payments should be reduced, persons holding those lands under contract might pay it rather than lose what they have invested, thus increasing not only the school fund, but the amount of taxable property. The Legislature and State officers, however, are not disposed to make an immediate reduction in anything, and look with disfavor on the proposition, presumably because there is no money in it.

Gerachi was the first man killed. Romero fell on his knees with his face in his hands and in that position was shot to death. Monastero and Coruso fell together. The bloody executioners did their work well and Cometex and Trobini, who had not yet been tried, fell riddled with bullets.

Machezi, Scalfodi and Marchesi had run upstairs. They were followed and shot down. Poltze, the crazy man, was found locked in his cell. He was shot but not killed outright, and in order to satisfy the crowd was taken out and hung in the doorway. The dead body of Bagnetto was hung to a tree and filled with bullets by the crowd. As soon as the bloody work was done Mr. Parkerson asked the crowd to disperse. The town is quiet to-night and no more trouble is feared. Detective O'Mally, who is accused of tampering with the jury, would have shared the fate of the assassins but he disappeared. The members of the jury are in hiding.

ARRIVED SAFELY BUT BARELY ESCAPED DESTRUCTION.

Special to the Journal.

PLYMOUTH, March 14.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Suevia, concerning whose whereabouts considerable anxiety was felt since she was reported disabled, arrived this morning.

Upon her arrival here it was found that the low pressure cylinder was smashed to atoms and a piston rod bent. She narrowly escaped the fate of the other vessels which went ashore in Start bay during the recent blizzard.

As soon as possible after the accident the Suevia was headed southward with lower topsail set. Under this sail the Suevia continued till yesterday afternoon when her engineers managed to disconnect the smashed cylinder and arrange so as to be able to place her under steam with one cylinder. The steamship was then about 25 miles south of Bishop's Rock. At first she was enabled to proceed at the rate of six miles per hour, and some time later she logged seven and one-half knots. Finally she reached Plymouth without assistance.

A DAMAGING FIRE IN SYRACUSE.

Special to the Journal.

UTICA, N. Y., March 14.—A great fire is raging in Syracuse. The Utica Fire Department has been called upon for aid. It is feared that much of the business portion of the city will be burned. The Vanderbilt House, Montgomery Flats, Holden block and several large buildings are on fire.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 14.—At 8:50 A. M., the Journal office, in which is located the Associated Press day wire, is on fire. All the telegraphic instruments have been removed from the building and a high wind is blowing. The fire is spreading rapidly. It started at 6:10 this morning.

The total loss is estimated at $2,000,000, and the insurance is not half that amount.

LATER.—The losses are now estimated at $1,000,000, insurance two-thirds.

A BOARDING HOUSE BURNED.

Special to the Journal.

CALIFORNIA, A. T., March 14.—The Detroit Copper Company's boarding house at Morenci was burned last night. Twenty people were asleep in the building when the fire broke out, who had to escape in their night clothes. Nothing was saved.

Several persons were scorched, and Mrs. J. R. Shankland, who occupied a room in the second story, had a miraculous escape. The flames had enveloped the upper story and there was no escape except through the window. She tossed her child to a man who caught it, and then jumped from the window herself, receiving most serious injuries.

THE FAMOUS SILVER BRICK AGAIN PRESENTED FOR COINAGE.

Special to the Journal.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—George G. Merrick, of Denver, to-day again presented his now famous silver brick to Superintendent Boobyshell, of the Mint for coinage. This second presentation was made necessary by the death of Secretary William and so decided by the Attorney General that the suit must again be filed. The same course was followed as before.

AN INTOXICATED SHERIFF.

Special to the Journal.

NEVADA, Cal.—A warrant was issued this afternoon for the arrest of Sheriff George W. Dunster, on a charge of being intoxicated to such an extent as to unfit him for the discharge of his official duty. Under the law the alleged offense is a misdemeanor and if proven deprives the accused of his office.

TEN DEATHS FROM LA GRIPPE.

Special to the Journal.

CLINTON, A. T., March 14.—La Grippe has become an epidemic here and it is reported in the last two weeks ten deaths have occurred from the disease. Many persons are afflicted with it now.

The Legislature and State officers, however, are not disposed to make an immediate reduction in anything, and look with disfavor on the proposition, presumably because there is no money in it.

Some of the braver of the Mafia begged for weapons to defend themselves, and were taken to the women's department to deceive the crowd.

Captain Davis refused to open the prison and the doors were quickly battered in. Citizens poured into the prison the whole night. A shout went up from the crowd. A detachment of police arrived but they were driven off under a fire of mud and stones. Every cell was carefully searched by armed citizens and they finally reached the female department. As they reached the landing the assassins fled down to the other end. Half a dozen followed them. The Italians crowded down in cells and screamed for mercy. The pursuers poured a deadly rain of bullets into the crouching figures.

Gerachi was the first man killed. Romero fell on his knees with his face in his hands and in that position was shot to death. Monastero and Coruso fell together.

The bloody executioners did their work well and Cometex and Trobini, who had not yet been tried, fell riddled with bullets.

A NEW RAILROAD.

THE BILL TO PROVIDE FOR ITS CONSTRUCTION PASSED THE SENATE.

The bill introduced by Senator Comins to encourage the construction of a railroad from the eastern to the western boundary of Nevada, through the counties of White Pine, Eureka, Lander, Churchill and Washoe, passed the Senate yesterday. It provides that the Board of Commissioners of either of said counties shall immediately upon receipt of a sworn certificate of the County Surveyor, setting forth that twenty miles of railroad is completed, prepare and issue bonds to the amount of $60,000 to the company, and thereafter upon completion of each successive twenty miles issue a like amount of bonds. The bonds are to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, the amount to be paid annually on the principal and interest of said bonds, to equal the amount collected by the county in taxes from the railroad company, less the amount collected for State and School purposes.

The road is to be known as the Utah & Nevada Air Line Railway.

The Silver State says Colonel Hardin shipped Thursday evening eighteen cars of the finest cattle that have been shipped over this road for years. There was over 300 in the band, all large, red cattle. Ten carloads will be left at Reno to be fed for a few months by W. H. Roche, to whom Hardin sold the cattle. The balance will continue on to California.

Professor A. C. Webb, of Wadsworth, has an attack of pneumonia, and is not expected to live. His wife, who is suffering with consumption, is also expected to die at any moment. Professor Webb is well and favorably known in Reno and his many friends will be grieved to learn of his and his wife's illness.

Yesterday's Enterprise says of Comstock hoodlums: "About a week ago Alfred Kendall, a lad employed by J. Morris to carry messages and packages for the firm, was waylaid and severely beaten by three young toughs on the Divide. Young Kendall was subsequently taken very sick, and he has been lying in bed ever since."

BORN.

DIED.

BRANT—In Dayton, Nev., March 12, 1891, Miss Ruth Brant aged 29 years, 11 months.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

NEVADA BUSINESS.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY AND WEEKLY RENO JOURNAL, established 20 years. If you want to do business in Nevada advertise in the JOURNAL.

A Longshoreman's Sense of Modesty.

"You would hardly believe what silly ideas some rough, uneducated men have about propriety," said the nurse, as she smoothed out the pillow and rearranged the bed covers with a gentleness and a dexterity that recalled to the patient the ministering hand of a mother to her sick boy. "I recollect nursing a big longshoreman when I was in the hospital, who had an idea of chivalry which, mistaken and nonsensical though it was, yet was refreshing in one of his class. He had been in some fight in a shop near the river, and had received a number of bad wounds. His antagonist had cut right for his heart, and had made three or four gaping slashes in his chest.

"The injured man was one of the best built men I ever saw, and if his chest had not been padded with thick muscles, he would have been murdered outright. As it was, he was in a critical condition, and only the best care and treatment could save his life. The surgeons dressed his wounds the first few days, and then turned the task over to me. I went up to the patient, whose name was Jackson, the next day, and began to lay back the covers of the bed.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"I am going to dress your wounds, I answered."

"You, a lady!" he said in astonishment.

"Of course; come, no nonsense," I went on as he had grasped the cover in his weak hands and was trying to prevent my laying it back. I tried to argue with him, but he blushed and said doggedly that he wouldn't let a lady dress his wounds. I told him he would die if he didn't let me take care of him, but he said he didn't care if he did, so I had to send for the surgeon. After several days the patient was persuaded to let me dress the wounds, but he turned crimson when he bared his chest for me, although he had to expose little more than a society woman does when she wears a ball gown. Well, the longshoreman got well, and since then I have been convinced that the coarsest men are not without instincts of gentility."—New York Tribune.

Bad Tempers.

There are some vices which possess what may be called respectable exterior; they succeed occasionally in borrowing the garments of some neighboring virtue and passing themselves off as relations of his. Even when their character as faults cannot be denied, people are found to palliate them and minimize their evil tendency. Among such sins are envy, jealousy, pride and bad temper.

To say that such a one has rather a hasty temper, or that he is difficult to get on with, or that he is too fond of having his own way, is hardly, in the opinion of many people, to say anything really to his discredit; yet, when we analyze that disposition of mind which is commonly called "bad temper" we shall find that it is neither more nor less than the malignant desire of making other people suffer pain. Even in the case of a "hot" or hasty temper, this is true. No one would use angry words to another if he did not mean that they should wound, and intend to relieve his angry feelings by the suffering they may cause.—Chambers' Journal.

The First Idea of Perpetual Motion.

Honecourt, a Flemish architect of the thirteenth century, left a drawing of a wheel that was to solve the problem of perpetual motion with this memorandum: "Many a time have skillful workmen tried to contrive a wheel that shall turn of itself. Here is a way to make such a one, by an uneven number of mallets or by quicksilver." But unfortunately he did not leave the wheel.

From his time on seekers after perpetual motion have been numerous, many of them supposed to be very respectable and intelligent men. Among the receivers of eighty-six English and twenty-three French patents taken out for perpetual motions between 1880 and 1890 were a colonial bishop, a professor of philosophy, one of languages, two barons, a Knight Templar, a doctor of medicine, two civil engineers, several mechanical engineers, etc.—Chicago Herald.
